Art is in the DNA of BD. From our first collaboration with Salvador Dalí, one of the major artists of the 20th century, followed by bringing the work of Antoni Gaudí to the market, we have merged the work of great artists with our innate ability to breathe life into visual concepts, combining artistry, inspiration and craftsmanship with a quest to continually broaden our horizons. Seeking out new talents and working across cultures and disciplines to create a vibrant, artistic collection that includes work by not just the grand masters such as Ettore Sottsass but also international talents including Jaime Hayon, Oscar Tusquets and Lluís Clotet. BD creates limited editions and small numbered quantities of works by an eclectic group of artists united in their exceptional creativity.

Salvador Dalí

Invisible personage

“In the mid-thirties Salvador Dalí was interested in representing “invisible personages”, that is, characters who left their mark on armchairs, sofas or beds but who could not be seen. Within this series of works, the first piece of furniture we have materialized is the chair that appears in the artwork Singularities (1935). Only the collaboration of a few but excellent craftsmen, who are still among us, allow for such dreamed of projects to come to realisation.” Oscar Tusquets Blanca

Company warehouses in the design sector generally accumulate leftovers. These are spare pieces, components and parts of furniture that have been stored away and forgotten about, which were once produced in large amounts and that have been discontinued. BD has also accumulated outdated materials, but before considering destroying pieces we have thought about giving them a second chance. This project has been named REmix and to complete it we have had the help and participation of other authors.
